"...masterly"
The Independent

"Marc Corbett-Weaver was an admirable soloist ...he could master the most difficult passages with ease...as full-blooded as possible... the finale was all fire and brimstone..."

Seen and Heard International

Following their successful collaboration at Cadogan Hall in September last year for Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto no.1, Toby Purser and Marc Corbett-Weaver return – by popular demand – for Rachmaninoff's timelessly popular Piano Concerto no. 2. The second half of the concert continues the Russian theme with Tchaikovsky's grandiose Symphony no. 5. We take advantage of the private gardens outside St Paul's Covent Garden, which will be closed to the public for the evening. Join us at 7 o'clock for cocktails on the lawn, before this special Gala Concert.
